

"It keeps you thinking."

It's great to see what others are doing, what they're trying. It's nice to be in an environment where you can not only share success stories but you can get feedback on why something didn't work so well. Then you talk to somebody and they say why don't you pivot this way or why don't you try this or do it this way or why did you use this creative instead of this?

"Listened Before Recommending ..."

The thing that impressed me most about ABCI is that they took the time to diagnose and really listen to our needs and figure out what we needed before recommending a solution ...

"We Love Marketing Mondays!"

It's good information and it's easy to see if this is a topic I need to forward to someone on my team.

"It's great to hear what's worked."

I like the interaction. You've got people that are experts in certain aspects of aviation. You can utilize those expert opinions to gain more information, to gain expertise and advice on what you should do next. And that's what I like most about this class. So you could be prospecting, or working with sales leads, whatever it is, there's always great feedback. It's really a great resource for finding things out.

"They are idea people."

Before we started with ABCI, we were limited to word of mouth and that worked because VIP aviation is a very small industry. But I knew we needed something more and I was very happy with the ideas they developed."
